WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over forty years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment cures in the privacy of your home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands of bad cases. It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take his advice and be well.

Mrs. R. D. Monfort, of Lebanon, Warren Co., O., writes: "I have received the 'Medical Adviser.' A crisp, new five dollar bill could not tempt me to part with it."

On receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only, we will send to any address a paper-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's great 1000-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." Or, for 31 stamps the same in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Little pill, Little dose, but give great results in a curative way in all derangements of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now ured by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

READY TO LEAVE MUKDEN?

An Englishman, who has just returned to Peking from a three days' visit in Mukden, reports the predominant feeling among Russians, both civilian and military, to be discouragement. Everybody spoke of the early occupation of the city by the Japanese as a foregone conclusion. The visitor formed the opinion that the discouragement among military men was intensified by the fact that Gen. Kuropatkin has his headquarters in a train, as if ready at any time to retreat northward, and by the fact that extensive preparations are being made at Tie Pass to give battle to the Japanese, which implies a previous Russian defeat at Mukden.

Immense confusion prevails at Mukden, according to the same authority. He states the Chinese are well paid and well treated by the Russians, and are doing a roaring business. Train loads of supplies are daily carried to the Russians by the Chinese railway, via Hsinmintun. One of the most serious consequences of a Russian defeat would be the cutting off of this source of supply.

Many Japanese interviewed recently express alarm at the suggested revision by an international congress of the terms of peace between Russia and Japan. When it is remembered that the origin of the present war is traceable to international interference after the war between China and Japan, one cannot but be surprised at the concern of those who witness the present intrigues for summoning an international conference.

The Russian War Office had no confirmation of a report from Mukden yesterday saying that the Japanese are preparing to retire from their positions on the Shakhe river. On the contrary, General Kuropatkin's official dispatch says the Japanese continue to bombard Putiloff Hill.

The wrecking of a railroad bridge between Mukden and Harbin is considered to be the work of a daring raiding party which crossed from Chinese territory. The damage has already been repaired and traffic resumed.

News brought direct from the front by a foreign attache is to the effect that the Russian army is in fine condition and numbers almost 400,000 men.

Woman Assaulted by Negro.

George Dennis, or Chapman, a negro, about 50 years old, is lodged in the Worcester county Md., jail, charged with attempting a felonious assault upon Mrs. Horace Smith, a young white woman. Dennis was arrested. The home of the Smiths is on the farm of Mr. M. Peters, sons. The house is situated in a dense woods, running along a creek, in which Dennis was accustomed to fish. It is said that Dennis had been fishing in the creek and had observed that Mr. Smith had left home, leaving his without a protector. Mrs. Smith was caught unawares in one of the rooms. The assailant almost knocked her down at the first blow but she recovered and offered resistance. She succeeded in kicking him in the face and this so infuriated the man that he threatened to kill her. While he was endeavoring to overcome the woman the outer door which he had left open, was slammed by the wind, making such a noise that the man thought the woman's husband had arrived home. He became frightened and escaped to the woods, leaving Mrs. Smith upon the floor in an exhausted condition. As soon as she recovered sufficiently she gave the alarm but could not in her fright give any description of her assailant. Someone suggested Dennis, as he had been seen around the creek. At first Mrs. Smith could not identify Dennis, thinking he was too old, but after seeing him a second time she was able to make the identification complete.

Dramatic Suicide.

Standing on the Fifty-ninth street wall of Central Park, New York, opposite the Plaza Hotel, in full view of scores of men and women, a man cut his throat with a bread knife yesterday and fell over into the park, dead. Policeman Kavanaugh, who had been standing at the Fifth avenue corner, hurried into the park and found the man with the knife clutched in his hand. A crowd of horrified pedestrians gathered around and watched the removal of the body to the Arsenal police station. When the man climbed up on the wall and stood upright Policeman Kavanaugh started toward him. As he approached the man suddenly drew a long bread knife with corrugated edge from under his coat. With his left hand he tilted his head, and with his right drew the knife in a long sweep across his bared throat. Women screamed and uttered exclamations of horror as the man lurched backward into the park and rolled down the steep enbankment almost into the pond. Nothing was found about him by which he could be identified.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflammed tissue to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tried of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York, will mail it.

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 14, 1905.

FOLLOWING the rebuke which was administered to the President on the matter of the arbitration treaties last Saturday, it appears that the Senate is preparing to give him another round of censure, this time because of his famous "constructive recess" appointments. Between the regular and special sessions of the Senate last year there was no interval, but taking advantage of a "constructive recess" Mr. Roosevelt reappointed and then renominated Major General Wood, Dr. Crum, the colored collector of the port of Charleston, and a number of other officers. His right to declare the existence of a recess met with denial in many quarters, but the Senate apparently conceded the right, for it confirmed the nominations. Now, however, the judiciary committee is about to consider a report declaring the President had no right to construe a recess, and the report was written by Senator Spooner, who was until Saturday one of the President's most valiant supporters. The Crum case is the one upon which the report is based, as it is in response to a resolution introduced by Senator Tillman asking for an opinion on the right of the President to make constructive recess appointments. The report, however, goes further than even Senator Tillman could have anticipated, for not only does it deny that the President had any right to declare that a recess existed when the two sessions were merged, but it recommends a limitation be placed upon the President's power to reappoint men whose nominations have been before the Senate and have not been confirmed, no matter whether the reappointment is made in actual or constructive recess. Senator Spooner has not yet submitted the report to the judiciary committee. There is considerable doubt as to what effect the adoption of such a report by the Senate would have. It would probably be in the form of a resolution, and might be accepted as merely a guide for future action, though in some quarters it is held that if such a resolution is adopted it will invalidate the recess commission of General Wood and give him rank as Major General only from the date of his confirmation. Many other officers would be set back in grade in the same way.

A LARGE portion of the country is wrapped in a polar wave which developed Sunday in the far West. The temperature, however, will moderate in the next few days, according to the Weather Bureau. Many places in the West are experiencing the lowest temperature in six years. Marshalltown, Iowa, is threatenhd by a coal famine, the electric light works being shut down and the inmates of the Soldiers' Home have been ordered to bed to keep warm. A dozen persons are reported to have been frozen to death in Oklahoma and adjoining States. Man has ever been compelled to battle with the elements. Hot waves in midsummer often cause death, while the blizzards of winter bring suffering and distress to many. As the spring opens the likelihood of cyclones produces uneasiness and often causes stampedes to storm cellars. Later on, when at times the heavens become as black as sackcloth and angry bolts fly thick and fast, the truth of the observation, "all seasons have their terrors," is brought vividly to mind.

BOTH MEMBERS of Congress from Oregon and one of the Senators and the latter's law partner and his son are now under indictment for land and other frauds. The act charged against Congressman Williamson is so common in the public land States and Territories that it is not regarded locally as a crime, and the fact that a penalty attaches to it may easily have been overlooked even by lawyers. The charge is that Williamson and his partner in the business of raising highly protected wool, and a land commissioner, conspired to induce a hundred persons to file applications for public land, swearing that it was for their own use, when it was for the benefit of Van Gessner and Williamson, who desired the land for sheep grazing. The excuse for a preposterous duty on wool, says the Philadelphia Record, is that it costs so much more to raise sheep in this country than in any other part of the world.

DURING the discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill in the Senate yesterday Mr. Stewart offered an amendment authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the standard of foods, and in support of the provision said that the adulteration of food has grown to alarming proportions. He asserted that much of the fresh meat used in Washington hotels is five years old, and said that even Senators eat much impure food. "Why, if you would be more careful in that respect you would be healthier and look brighter," he said. Notwithstanding this statement the amendment was lost. Another exhibition of the power of the trusts in the Senate!

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S speech in New York last night was guarded, and he said nothing that any one cares to challenge. His references to the South contained nothing to which this section was not fully entitled, and were no more pregnant of the feeling that should prevail than was uttered on southern soil by the late President McKinley. Why should there be any north, south, east or west in a country where all pay their quota to keep up a government for the people? The President said nothing in regard to the negro problem that had not been stated and recapitulated time over and again during the past forty years. Education, equal rights before the law or any privilege granted the colored man will not of themselves make of him a good citizen. He is his own architect in that. Nature has invested him with a power by which he can evolve into respectability, if he will but use it.

THE United States grand jury in Portland, Oreg., late yesterday returned an indictment charging United States Senator Mitchell, Congressman John N. Williamson and Binger Hermann and others with having conspired to have created the Blue Mountain forest reserve, in eastern Oregon, with the intent of defrauding the government of public lands, and also of conspiring to obtain possession of more than 200,000 acres of public and school lands situated in several States, of the value of more than $8,000,000. Oregon statesmen evidently act on the theory that a public trust is a private snap.

THE EPISCOPAL clergymen of Rhode Island have started a crusade against political corruption which exists in that State. They will have to give up preaching and devote their entire time to their new work and then they will have their hands full.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]
Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.

All kinds of complications are liable to follow the decision of the Senate judiciary committee that there was no constructive recess between the ending of the special session and the beginning of the regular session of Congress at midday of December 7th, 1903. The two sessions merged at that noon hour, but the President, supported by high legal advice, contended that constructively there was an interval. And taking advantage of that supposititious, infinitesimal space of time, the President issued recess appointments to Leonard Wood as a major general, to 168 other army officers whose advancement followed Wood's promotion, to W. D. Crum as collector of customs at Charleston, and to several other government officials. In General Wood's case he would have become a brigadier general with the reduced pay of that rank but for the President's action. In Crum's case he would have ceased to be collector. The effect, therefore, of the President's decision was to give all of those appointees more salary than they would have been entitled to if there had been no constructive recess. The Senate some months later confirmed all of these appointments, but the judiciary committee now asserts, by what is understood to have been a unanimous vote, that there was no constructive recess and therefore that the President's action was illegal. That brings in question the legality of the payment to all the officials involved of the difference between the salary of the grade they occupied and that to which they were promoted by the President. If that point is pushed it will cause tremendous confusion in the accounts of the Treasury, and a consideration would be involved. It is thought, however, that the Senate will content itself in the matter to prevent similar incidents in the future and will let the question of salaries drop. It is possible, however, that it may be decided to adopt special legislation legalizing the action of the disbursing officers in those cases. The report of the judiciary committee, which was prepared by Senator Spooner and concurred in by the other members, will probably not be made public until next Monday when the committee holds its next meeting.

The select subcommittee of the House committee on commerce to investigate the affairs of the Panama Railroad Company, it was learned this morning, has been to New York and examined the books, reports and papers of the company and placed an expert at work on them to investigate. The company's books show that Admiral Walker, President of the Canal Commission, holds in the commission's name 908 shares of the stock, not owned by the government; that Attorney Cromwell owns six shares and that the directors each own one share.

The House committee on naval affairs today authorized favorable report on the Rixey resolution, calling on the Secretary of the Navy for his reasons for cancelling the contract with the Midvale Company to furnish 6,000 tons of armor at $398 per ton and for rejecting another bid of the same firm for 7,828 tons of armor and executing the contract with the Bethlehem and Carnegie Company at an advance price of $200,000.

The general impression about the Capitol is that the Sullivan Hearst affair yesterday was a most unfortunate occurrence and should never have been permitted on the floor of the House.

Collisons with Troops.

According to telegrams received in Berlin from Lodz, collisions between crowds and troops occurred in five different quarters of the town Sunday. One report says forty-two were killed, but the number is believed in reality to have been far greater. Over 200 were wounded. Women and children were among the killed and wounded. The strikers appear to have used revolvers against the troops. The funeral of forty-five victims of last Thursday's massacre took place at Sosnovice at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. It is semiofficially announced that as a result of the disturbances at Lodz, 144 bodies have been buried, while 200 wounded persons are still in the hospitals. The officials report that 600 persons were arrested in connection with the strikes, of whom 387 have been released.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Senate heard ten witnesses in the Swayne impeachment trial yesterday, and devoted the remainder of its time to the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. The major portion of the debate in connection with the appropriation bill was based on an amendment suggested by Mr. Bacon, providing for semi-monthy reports on the condition of the cotton crop, which was amended so as to cover the last five months of the year, and adopted.

The Senate will meet at noon today. The Swayne court meets at 2 p. m.

Not in recent years has the House witnessed such a spectacle as it did yesterday, with Mr. Sullivan, of Massachusetts, and Mr. William R. Hearst, of New York, as the central figures. Both indulged in personalties of the gravest character, and so stirred the House as to arouse among certain members a feeling of the greatest indignation. Mr. Sullivan heaped upon Mr. Hearst a tirade of denunciation, while the latter by implication charged Mr. Sullivan with complicity in a murder saying:

"When I was at Harvard College, in 1885, a murder was committed in a low saloon in Cambridge. A man, partly incapacitated from drink bought in that saloon Sunday morning, when the saloons were open against the law, was assaulted by the two owners of that saloon and brutally kicked to death. The name of one of the owners of that saloon was John A. Sullivan. These two men were arrested and indicted by the grand jury and convicted for manslaughter. I would like to ask Mr. John A. Sullivan if he knows anything about that incident, and whether, if I desired to make a hostile criticism of him, I could not have referred to that crime."

The affair grew out of the recent discussion of the freight-rate question in the House, when Mr. Sullivan inquired of Mr. Lamar, of Florida, who was favoring the Hearst bill, why Mr. Hearst did not defend his own bill, this being followed by a criticism of Mr. Sullivan in the New York American and Journal.

Several appeals were made to Speaker Cannon to cause the two men to desist in their abuse of each other. Speaker Cannon, however, allowed them to proceed.

Mr. Sullivan later said he would take the floor today and answer the reflection on him contained in Mr. Hearst's remarks.

Mr. Payne, of New York, reported from the committee on ways and meansthe bill to revise and amend the tariff laws of the Philippine Islands. Twenty District of Columbia bills were passed.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH.

President Roosevelt received an enthusiastic welcome at Jersey City on the arrival of his special train from Washington yesterday afternoon.

The President arrived at the Republican Club, in New York, at 4 o'clock and was escorted to the large reception room on the second floor, where he took his stand in front of a canopy of American flags. Beside him were Louis Stern, president of the club, and James W. Haines, who introduced those members with whom the President was not acquainted. The reception lasted two hours, during which time nearly 900 persons greeted the President. At the close of the reception the President drove, accompanied by the same escort, to the home of his sister, Mrs Douglas Robinson, in Madison avenue. Here, after a brief rest, the President dressed for dinner and was driven to the Waldorf, where he arrived at 7:30, and became the guest of the Republican Club at its Lincoln dinner.

When the President was introduced he was greeted with much applause. When it had ceased Mr. Roosevelt began his speech with encomiums upon the late President Lincoln, quoting profusely from his inaugural and other public addresses. Among other things he said:

"The great civil war, in which Lincoln towered as the loftiest figure, left us not only a reunited country, but a country which has the proud right to claim as its own the glory won alike by those who wore the blue and by those who wore the gray, by those who followed Grant and by those who followed Lee: for both fought with equal bravery and with equal sincerity of conviction, each striving for the light as it was given him to see the light; though it is now clear to all that the triumph of the cause of freedom and of the union was essential to the welfare of mankind. We are now one people, a people with failings which we must not blink, but a people with great qualities in which we have the right to feel just pride.

"All good Americans who dwell in the North must, because they are good Americans, feel the most earnest friendship for their fellow-countrymen who dwell in the South, a friendship all the greater because it is in the South that we find in its most acute phase one of the gravest problems before our people—the problem of so dealing with the man of one color as to secure him the right that no one would grudge him if he were of another color.

"To solve this problem it is, of course, necessary to educate him to perform the duties, a failure to perform which will render him a curse to himself and to all around him.

"Most certainly all clear-sighted and generous men in the North appreciate the difficulty and perplexity of this problem, sympathize with the South in the embarrassment of conditions for which she is not alone responsible, feel an honest wish to help her where help is practicable, and have the heartiest respect for those brave and earnest men of the South who, in the face of fearful difficulties, are doing all that men can do for the betterment alike of white and of black.

"Every vicious, venal or ignorant colored man is an even greater foe to his own race than to the community as a whole. The colored man's self-respect entitles him to do that share in the political work of the country which is warranted by his individual ability and integrity and the position he has won for himself. But the prime requisite of the race is moral and industrial uplifting.

"Laziness and shiftlessness, these, and, above all, vice and criminality of every kind, are evils more potent for harm to the black race than all acts of oppression of white men put together. The colored man who fails to condemn crime in another colored man, who fails to co-operate in all lawful ways in bringing colored criminals to justice, is the worst enemy of his own people, as well as an enemy to all the people.

"Law-abiding black men should, for the sake of their race, be foremost in relentless and unceasing warfare against law-breaking black men. If the standards of private morality and industrial efficiency can be raised high enough among the black race, then its future on this continent is secure. The stability and purity of the home is vital to the welfare of the black race, as it is to the welfare of every race.

"In the next place the white man, who, if only he is willing, can help the colored man more than all other white men put together, is the white man who is his neighbor, North or South. Each of us must do his whole duty without flinching, and if that duty is national it must be done in accordance with the principles above laid down. But in endeavoring each to be his brother's keeper it is wise to remember that each can normally do most for the brother who is his immediate neighbor."

In quoting from a certain bishop the President said that in each locality men keep in mind the fact that there must be no confusing of civil privileges with social intercourse.

In closing his speech the President said:

"I admire and respect and believe in and have faith in the men and women of the South as I admire and respect and believe in and have faith in the men and women of the North. All of us alike, northerners and southerners, easterners and westerners, can best prove our fealty to the nation's past by the way in which we do the nation's work in the present; for only thus can we be sure that our children's children shall inherit Abraham Lincoln's single-hearted devotion to the great unchanging creed that 'righteousness exalteth a nation.'

"I believe in this country with all my heart and soul. I believe that our people will in the end rise level to every need, will in the end triumph over every difficulty that rises before them. I could not have such confident faith in the destiny of this mighty people if I had it merely as regards one portion of that people. Throughout our land things on the whole have grown better and not worse, and this is as true of one part of the country as it is of another.

"I believe in the southerner as I believe in the northerner. I claim the right to feel pride in his great qualities and in his great deeds exactly as I feel pride in the great qualities and deeds of every other American. For weal or for woe we are knit together, and we shall go up or go down together, and I believe that we shall go up and not down, that we shall go forward instead of halting and falling back, because I have an abiding faith in the generosity, the courage, the resolution and the common sense of all my countrymen."

Today's Telegraphic News

Opening of Parliament.

London, Feb. 14.—Parliament opened today. There was unusual interest manifested in the opening, which was attended by the usual early scramble for seats. The question of the stand or fall of the present ministry is the live one at the present moment. While it is not thought the government's defeat is imminent, the present session will probably be its last. The opposition and the Irish members threaten the liveliest tactics and will do their utmost to overthrow the Baltour party.

King Edward arrived at the House of Lords at two o'clock. The scene in the House was a most brilliant one, with peers and peeresses arrayed in waiting for the king, clad in most gorgeous costumes, with the orilliant colorings of the robes set off by the ermine trimmings. The usual procedure of welcome to the sovereign was gone through with.

The king began his speech at 2:30 o'clock. He began with the statement that the relations between Great Britain and the foreign powers continued friendly and expressed particular pleasure at the visit of the king and queen of Portugal last autumn.

Regarding the war in the far East the king said: "The war which has been progressing since February last between Russia and Japan unhappily continues. My government has been careful to observe, in the strictest manner, the obligations incumbent upon a neutral power." "The condition of affairs in the Balkan peninsula," he continued, "continues to give cause for anxiety. A measure adopted at the instance of the Austro Hungarian and Russian governments have been instrumental in bringing about some amelioration in the state of the disturbed districts. Progress has been notably made in the reorganization of the gendarmerie to which officers of my army have contributed valuable assistance. These measures have still to be supplemented by radical reforms, especially in the financial system, before any permanent improvement can be effected in the administration of these provinces of the Turkish empire. I note with satisfrction that the Austro Hungarian and Russian governments have lately addressed to the porte proposals for this purpose. My governmeent is in communication with those of other powers mainly concerned in this important subject."

His Majesty referred to the ratification of the Anglo-French convention which he believed would operate advantageously to strengthen the friendliness of both. He also referred to the arbitration agreements with Sweden and Norway, Portugal and Switzerland. Turning to the Dogger Bank affair and the negotiations which followed that event, the king continued: "My government has also come to agreement with Russia, under which an international commission of inquiry in conformity with The Hague convention, has been formed. Their duty is to investigate the circumstances of the disaster to British vessels which resulted from an action of the Russian fleet in the North Sea, and to apportion the responsibility for this deplorable incident. Steps to be taken," the King continued, "to establish a representative constitution in the Transvaal are receiving the earnest consideration of the government and those administering the colony, and will, I hope, result in substantial progress towards the ultimate goal of complete self-government."

His Majesty referred to the difficulties of the Thibetan mission in concluding the agreement at Lhassa. He announced that the Chinese government had sent a commissioner to Calcutta to negotiate a convention of adhesion to the agreement with the Thibetans.

His majesty also referred to the appointment of a commission to settle the church difficulty in Scotland and expressed the hope that this commission would produce an efficient administrations of the ecclesiastical funds and promote peace.

Concluding, the king indicated bills dealing with the redistribution of alien immigration, with the unemployed, with Scotch education, with workmen's compensation, and with the establishment of a ministry of commerce.

After concluding his speech, the king returned to Buckingham Palace aleng the same route taken in going to the House of Lords.

Hotel Burned.

Chicago, Feb. 14. Fire broke out in the Hotel Brevoort at 2:30 this morning and at 3 o'clock the building was entirely gutted entailing a loss of $250,000. Three hundred guests had narrow escapes, but all are believed to have been safely removed from the path of the flames. Five firemen have been injured. Twenty-five extra engines have been called for. Shortly after the strength of the fire department had been hurled into the fight against the Brevoort fire, alarms were turned in from 105 west Monroe street and from Clinton and Adams streets, where high buildings are burning. Alarms are being turned in from all over the city. Forty small fires were fought successfully during Monday night but nearly every one entailed great suffering on numerous occupants. The fire in the Brevoort House was caused by crossed wires. Two explosions in a light shaft at the top of the building added to the terror of the guests.

Wanted to Advise the President.

New York, Feb. 14.—An old man giving the name of William Waldorp Jackson, jr., and who said he was the proprietor of the Hotel Manhattan, of Lowell, Mass., called this morning at the home of Douglass Robinson, on Madison avenue, where President Roosevelt is stopping, and asked to see the President. The secret service men shooed him away, after questioning the old man and learning that he wished to confer with the President as to reforms in government and that he was a self nominated candidate for the Presidency of the United States in 1896, 1900, and 1904. The man was not arrested as he appeared harmless. The old man then returned to the Buckingham Hotel where he is a guest. There he said:" I wished to speak with President Roosevelt, with a view to imparting to him some valuable information as to how the office he holds should be conducted. I came early so as not to take up the President's time, for I know he is very busy. I shall go on the stump throughout the country in 1908, and try and convert the public to my way of thinkiug. Later the old man made an attempt to enter the house. He got no farther than the door. There he posed for a group of newspaper men, who took a snap shot of him, with cameras. He addressed the reporters while being photographed saying "You gentlemen are looking on a man famous in two hemispheres; you are looking on the favorite son of Lowell."

The President in New York.

New York, Feb. 14.—This evening President Roosevelt will be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Hungarian Republican Club, at Cafe Liberty, or as it is better known, "Little Hungary," on the East Side. Plice commissioner McAdoo is making elaborate arrangements to safeguard the Chief Magistrate while he is in the densely populated tenement house district. The streets for blocks around will be roped off, hundreds of policemen and plain clothes men will line the sidewalks, along the President's pathway, and detectives will even be stationed on the roofs of houses adjoining "Little Hungary," to prevent any gentleman of anarchistic tendencies from placing any bombs into the Goulash set before the Chief Executive. The President will make his Hungarian friends a little speech during the evening, and at its conclusion will be whirled across town and over the North river to Jersey City station, of the Pennsylvania Railroad. His train will leave at about 12:40 a. m. and is due to reach Washington at about seven.

Verdict Set Aside.

Boston, Feb. 14.—The verdict which the jury returned for the defendant last week, in the case of Helen Bates McNally, the chorus girl, who sued Robert E. Lee, of Cambridge, for $30,000, alleging breach of promise of marriage, was set aside yesterday by Judge Bishop. The court granted the motion for a new trial on the ground that the jury was prejudiced against the plaintiff because of her calling. It is understood that the defendant offered to settle, before the case went to trial, for a substantial sum.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Panic at Fire.

Twenty-four families were made homeless by a fire in Chicago yesterday which destroyed the four-story flat building at 166 Webster avenue, entailing a loss of $100,000. There was a panic among the occupants of the building, but it is believed all escaped. There were many thrilling escapes from death, the most astonishing being that of Mrs. A. J. Donaldson. After throwing her child to safety, Mrs. Donaldson jumped headlong from a second-story window. A fireman caught her by the shoulders and turned her so that her feet, instead of her head, struck the pavement. Mrs. Donaldson fainted, but was soon revived, and was none the worse for her remarkable experience.

Mr. Patterson, denounced the smelter trust.

Mr. Pettus raised the point of order against the amendment on the ground that it changed existing legislation.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Swayne case as a court at 2 p. m.

HOUSE.

The second installment of the Sullivan-Hearst controversy was presented to the House directly after the reading of the journal, today.

In his counter-attack on Mr. Sullivan (dem. Mass.), Mr. Hearst had charged that he and his father had once killed a man. Mr. Sullivan today explained that incident in his past.

"The most that can ever be alleged against me," he said, "is that I was technically guilty of this offense, for even the District Attorney admitted that I was not morally guilty."

Mr. Sullivan took the floor immediately after the reading of the journal, asking for unanimous consent to present his answer to the Hearst charge. Mr. Hearst was not present. There was some preliminary sparring. Mr. Robertson, of Indiana, reserved the right to object, unless assured that Mr. Sullivan would confine himself to an explanation. The assurance was given.

Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, objected, but withdrew his objection. The suggestion was made that Sullivan should proceed in his own right, and not by unanimous consent.

To compel this action Mr. Rhea, of Kentucky, objected to unanimous consent. Mr. Sullivan thereupon, rising to a question of personal privilege, proceeded in his own right. "It is true," he said, "that on November 19, 1885, my father, Eugene L. Sullivan, and myself were convicted of manslaughter in the Superior Court of Middlesex county, in the State of Massachusetts. My father was the sole proprietor of a licensed hotel known as the Central House, in Cambridge, Mass. An intoxicated man, who was not a guest and had not entered the hotel that day, came to the main door and my father, seeing him, shut the door against him. Thereupon the man went around to the back door and broke a window. My father went out upon the street, took the man by the collar and demanded that he pay for the damage he had done. The man responded by striking him, and a fight ensued. I came upon the scene at a time when my father was being overpowered by this man, and took the part of my father in the struggle. The jury found that the man was knocked down by a blow from my father's fist, and struck his head against the curbstone and became unconscious. There was testimony in the trial of the case that he never recovered consciousness, and died some two day's after the assault. At the conclusion of the trial, my father was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction."

Mr. Sullivan then went on to say that the District Attorney of his own motion stated to the court that he would ask no sentence against him as he was then but a boy seventeen years old, and he walked from the court room a free man. He then stated that after 18 months of his father's term new evidence was presented to show that there was a doubt as to whether the man had died from the result of his father's blow or from a fall later down a flight of stairs and that his father had then been pardoned.

Mr. Gardner, of Massachusetts, Mr. Sullivan's republican colleague, paid him a personal tribute, testifying to his friendship for him, his remarkable standing in his community, his record in the State Senate, his honesty and irreproachable character.

The sensational incident came to a peaceful conclusion and the business of the House was then taken up.

Strange Experience.

The Pacific Mail Steamer City of Panama, which sailed from San Francisco on January 21 for ports on the Central American coast, had a strange experience, news of which has just been received at San Francisco by mail from Acapulco. Through miles of sea covered thickly with masses of vegetation, tree trunks and the carcasses of dead animals, the steamer sailed, the debris at times being so thick that her progress was impeded. Some of the trees were five and six feet in diameter and the dead animals were of all descriptions. The debris was encountered on January 28, in latitude 16.58 north and longitude 100 29 west. The stuff was eight or nine feet thick. The officers of the vessel were unable to explain the strange conditions, and they arrived at Acapulco no light was thrown on the subject. It is supposed that the floating mass of debris was cast upon the waters by some gigantic volcanic eruption on the Central American coast.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Alexandria Gazette.

TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 14, 1905.

Local Matters.

Sun rises tomorrow at 6:53 and sets 5:37. High water at 3:12 a. m. and 3:44 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair and not so cold tonight. Wednesday increasing cloudiness, probably snow, with rising temperature; increasing southwest to west winds.

From the Land of the Pharaohs.

A copy of the Alexandria (Egypt) Gazette of January 26 has been received in this office. Its name is in the same style of type used for the headline of the Alexandria (Virginia) Gazette, and is printed in good English, not in the hieroglyphics of the Rameses. Although emanating from the country of the pyramids and Sphynx, the early history of which is lost in the mazes of antiquity, it is the junior of the Old Dominion journal by over three-fourths of a century. In fact the paper of the Pharaohs has not reached its majority, being between nineteen and twenty years of age. In the personal column of the Egyptian journal the following appears:

"Owing to the large number of tourists who have arrived within the last few days, Shepheard's Hotel and Ghezireh Palace are completely full. Among those staying at Shepheard's we notice Prince Omar Toussoun, Baron Pidoll, Sir Robert Pullar, Mr. Arthur Chamberlain, J. P., and family, Col. James Scott, Count von Herder, Comte de Perigord and the Hon. Mrs. Sackville-West, Baron Koening, Baron Rudolf Drasch, Baron Dobezensky, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Alexander, Ritter von Rapperd, Baroness F. de Furstenwerth, Mrs. von Weydwiller, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Daingerfield and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Summerfield, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Strimson, etc."

Drop in the Temperature.

Shortly before noon yesterday the wind blew heavy and cold from the northwest, while snow was flying thick and fast. The flaws of wind roared dismally through the denuded trees, while the temperature fell rapidly and drove most people from the streets. The mild weather which had previously prevailed had softened the snow and a partial thaw had leveled the surface of the roadways considerably. When the cold wave began to make itself felt everything in the way of moisture was, in a short time converted into ice, and by night boys were using the roadways for skating rinks. As the night advanced the frigidity increased, the pavements and carriageways becoming coated with ice. Vehicles in passing through the streets at times veered from right to left as sleds, while most pedestrians were compelled to abandon the pavements for the roadways. The latter in many places were treacherous, especially at intersections where the snow had partially melted and later been converted into ice. The atmosphere became more frigid during the night, and at 7 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 8°. The weather today has been clear and cold. The mercury at 3 o'clock this evening registered 26°.

The River.

The track cut by the Norfolk steamers and government tugboats which has been kept open during the winter froze across last night, and this morning the stream was apparently as solid as terra firma. It is said that some persons from Maryland crossed the river on the ice. The ice is said to be 12 inches thick in the docks.

The steamer Washington, from Norfolk, arrived shortly after 12 o'clock.

The Baltimore and Ohio transfer tugboat Major Brewerton attempted to open a path between the Wilkes street slip and Shepherd's yesterday. It was slow work and the tugboat was about eight hours in making the round trip. The low temperature of last night froze the track as tight as ever and no attempt has been made to carry the barge across.

Chesapeake Bay is reported to be full of floating ice, some of which is at least a foot thick. Large fields which have broken away from tributaries have drifted into the bay and are affording impediments to steamers.

Interchange of Tickets.

It was stated in yesterday's Gazette that by an agreement between officials of the Southern and Washington-Southern Railways tickets will be interchanged on trains running between this city and Washington. The following is the official notification:

Washington Southern Railway Co.
Richmond, Va., February 10, 1905.

Mr. T. H. Netherland, Alexandria, Va:

My Dear Sir:

I am very glad to inform you that the Southern Railway Company has agreed to the interchange, temporarily, between the Washington Southern Railway and the Southern Railway, of tickets for the local service between Alexandria and Washington. The tickets are now being printed, and they will be put on sale as soon as possible. I shall be glad if you will make this known to those interested.

Trusting that this arrangement (which is absolutely unremunerative to us) will, to some extent at least, relieve the situation, I am, Yours very truly,

E. T. D. MYERS, President

Civil Service Examination.

A competitive examination, under the rules of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, for the position of clerk-carrier, in the postoffice at Alexandria, will be held on the 1st day of March, 1905, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. Applications for this examination must be made on the prescribed form, which, with necessary instructions, may be obtained from the Commission's local representative at the Alexandria postoffice or from the Secretary of the Commission in Washington. Opera House.

"A Vagabond's Wife," the attraction at the Opera House last night, was well presented by the Tempest Dramatic Company. Each character was portrayed excellently, and the drama was heartily enjoyed. The specialties were also good and of a refined nature. The attraction tonight will be "Lady Audley's Secret," dramatized from the novel by that name. New specialties will also be presented. Several good dramas will be presented during the week.

The regular meeting of Alexandria Council, Royal Arcanum, will be held tonight.

Accepted the Invitation.

The White Haven, Pa., Press published the following regarding a recent experience of Rev. John Cavnaugh, formerly pastor of the Free Methodist Church in this city: "Rev. John Cavnaugh, the evangelist and enemy of drink and vice, who is pastor of the Free Methodist Church here, had an experience about a week ago that does not happen very often. His travels took him to Bellefonte and while in that town he had occasion to visit several homes. In one of these he met a bright little girl of perhaps three years of age, and becoming interested in her he playfully asked if she would not like to go home with him. She answered in the affirmative and soon after Mr. Cavnaugh took his leave. The following day the woman of the house stopped him on the street and willingly offered to make good the child's desire. Mr. Cavnaugh told her that he could not very well take the child with him and that she had better keep the responsibility that was placed upon her. When the preacher was about to leave for home the lady met him at the depot with the child, bag and baggage, and all the necessary legal documents, prepared to relinquish hold of the child. The papers were duly presented and without asking "by your leave" or giving the child good bye she went on her way as if it were an every day occurance. There remained nothing else to do for Mr. Cavnaugh but to make the best of it and so he brought the child home with him where she is now. The child thinks there is no one quite like her benefactor and is very happy in her new home. She is an exceedingly bright and pretty little thing and how any mother could give her up without any pangs of regret is a mystery."

Pleasant Entertainment.

The entertainment given by the Allison W. C. T. U. last night at Odd Fellows' Hall was quite a success. The attendance, considering the inclement weather, was very gratifying indeed and goes to show that the progress of the W. C. T. U. in this city is onward and upward. The welcome address of Mrs. Lelia M. Tinsley was very beautifully conceived and appropriate. The singing of Messrs. Field, Outcalt, Netherland and Dinwiddie was much enjoyed by all and the music on the fine piano, kindly loaned the union for the occasion, was beautifully rendered. The surprise of the evening was an exquisite banner (worked by her hands) presented to the union in her happy manner by Mrs. Hoffman. The impromptu speech of the president in accepting the banner was very felicitous indeed. Ice cream and cake were served in abundance and quite a little sum was realized for the many good works the union is so earnestly laboring for, and they feel very grateful to their friends.

He fell within a short distance of the track and the step of one of the cars collided with his head. He remained on the ground until the train had passed and then arose. His injury was slight.

Suit Begins.

The suit for $10,000 damages filed last December by Miss Effie Beitsch, the 12-year-old daughter of John Beitsch, against Oliver F. Faulkner, a prominent dry goods and shoe dealer, came up for trial yesterday in the Frederick county Circuit Court before a jury of seven county men. Judge Thomas W. Harrison presided.

On account of probable sensational testimony the court, with consent of counsel for both sides, excluded the public and admitted only principals, court officials, witnesses, lawyers and two reporters.

A large number of persons from town and county, sought admission, but were refused. This caused much comment. Miss Beitsch alleges that while in the Faulkner store she was, at the hands of the defendant, "greatly hurt and injured and did suffer great mental anguish, shame and dishonor." The case has attracted extraordinary interest, and it will probably last several days. Many prominent persons have been summoned to testify.

The little Beitsch girl took the stand yesterday morning and told the jury a story of the alleged assault on November 21, 1904. Mabel Ford, a companion, about the age of the plaintiff, corroborated part of her story, and the girl's parents also testified.

Testimony was admitted for the purpose of showing that Mr. Faulkner had transferred all of his property to his wife in trust for his son, a few hours before the suit was filed against him, the deed bearing date of 1899.

Witnesses for the defense took the stand that afternoon, and just before the adjournment of court for the day the defendant denied on the stand that he had been guilty of improper conduct toward the plaintiff. His brother also testified that he was in Mr. Faulkner's store at the time of the alleged assault, and that he noticed nothing unusual in the demeanor of either the defendant or the plaintiff. The case is expected to be in the jury's hands on Tuesday evening.

Shooting in a Court Room.

Mrs. Joseph H. Freeman lies mortally wounded; her daughter, Miss May Brown, is dead, and City Detective W. B. Cahoon is seriously wounded as a result of a shooting affray in the courtroom of I. L. Farris, justice of peace, in Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday. Mrs. Freeman had brought action against Owen E. Laodholdtz, charging him with ruining her daughter. The parties to the case had gone to the courtroom prepared for trouble. According to witnesses of the tragedy, Mrs. Freeman attracted Laodholdtz's attention by calling his name, and fired at him. His reply was prompt and deadly. He fired five times, and every shot took effect. Mrs. Freeman was shot four times in the breast, and her daughter, who had fired once, was shot in the mouth and instantly killed. Detective Cahoon, who was attempting to disarm Laodholdtz, was shot in the back, evidently by one of the women. Laodholdtz was arrested and is in jail. Joseph Brown, brother of the girl who was killed, arrived on the scene immediately after the shooting, and was locked up for a time be order of Justice Farris to prevent further trouble, but was soon after released.

The Cosmopolitan for February, which has been received from its publishers in Irvington, N. Y., keeps up the high standard attained by this magazine. Its editor contributes an excellent editorial on "The Simple Life" and an installment of "A Modern Swiss Family Robinson." "The American Wife in Europe" is considered, and "The Early Days of Christian Missions in Japan" is illustrated from old prints. A sketch of Henrik Ibsen is given, and "The Development of Nome" and the "Manufacture of Boots and Shoes" are of interest. In "Barbaric Pearl and Gold" Julian Hawthorne tells of India, the recent Durbar, etc. Other articles of this issue are good, as are its fiction, poetry, humor, satire and cartoons.

THE FRIGID WAVE.

With almost unprecedented cold and deep snow, serious delays in passenger and freight transportation, much loss of human life and some damage to live stock were reported from a vast territory west, south and north of Chicago yesterday. Moderation set in last night north and west of Chicago.

In Chicago the rare temperature of 18 degrees below zero was reached yesterday, causing great suffering among the poor. Absence of wind made the cold supportable to those who were compelled to be outdoors, and snow plows working steadily prevented any great delay to transportation.

The most unusual of the present cold weather hardships are experienced in the Southwest, including Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Arkansas, New Mexico, Missouri and northern Texas.

With a record breaking temperature of 25 degrees below zero in Kansas and 15 inches of snow under a clear sky—and this indicates conditions in the whole Southwest—a dozen persons have been frozen to death during the last two days in Oklahoma, Indian Territory and and adjoining states.

Trains are delayed by snowdrifts, but wheat is protected and live stock losses will not be extensive. The temperature in the Southwest last night tended toward moderation.

Zero weather prevailed throughout northern New Mexico yesterday, the coldest in many years.

In the middle west, including Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and adjoining States, the cold is intense, but not so unusual. Trains are much delayed and coal is scarce at several places. Herders and travelers have been frozen on the prairies in several States.

Intense cold and deep snow are killing hundreds of deer and other wild animals in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. Even wolves' carcasses have been found. Farmers report that wildcats and wolves appear to have lost all fear, raiding chicken coops, pigeons and even cattle barns.

With the South just beginning to recover from the paralyzing blow to wire and rail communications inflicted by sleet storms of last week, a cold wave has spread with great speed from Arizona to the Atlantic and from the Ohio river to the Gulf.

In Missisoippi, Alabama and Tennessee heavy snowfalls are reported, Railroad traffic is hindered by snow around Birmingham.

The line of zero temperature was yesterday extended as far South as Memphis and several Arkansas cities, while at New Orleans the mercury dropped down in the twenties.

Among reports received yesterday the following below-zero temperature are noted: Superior, Wis., 28; Lacrosse, Wis., 28; Milwaukee, 18; Zanesville, Wis., 34; St. Paul, Minn., 25; Williston, N. D., 28; Omaha, Neb., 22; Norfolk, Neb., 29; Lincoln, Neb., 26,

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success.
